

ISTANBUL
RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Children's literature discovers İstanbul Haydar Ergülen

Literature has a crucial role in the development and expansion of the publishing industry. An even more gratifying aspect of this fact is that children's and adolescent literature now holds a larger place in the scope of literature. Apart from translations, new writers and children's books of renowned authors are met with great interest.

Plots taking place in İstanbul comprise an important majority of these books. These include fairy tales, stories, sci-fi works, novels, guides, and informative publications centered on various neighborhoods of İstanbul, its history, historic buildings, monuments, legends, heroes, people, stray animals, birds, sea, and particularly its conquest.

In this program, Haydar Ergülen focuses on how children and adolescents can and will discover İstanbul through literature: What can the İstanbul of grown-ups learn from the İstanbul of children?

*The talk will be in Turkish.
Free of admissions, drop in.*