

Christos Stavrakos

New Aquisitions of the Private Byzantine Seal Collection of Konstantinos Kalantzis (Agrinion-Greece)

During the 20th century, the majority of the collectors in Greece were not interested in Byzantine lead seals. Apart from some old private collections donated to the Numismatic Museum of Athens, the Byzantine lead seals, if existed in private collections, were only a small part of private numismatic collections. However, in the last years Byzantine lead seals appeared in Greek private collections, and one of them is the collection of Konstantinos Kalantzis, which is an ever growing one. Some of its most important pieces will be presented in this paper.